Twelve Stone Mill

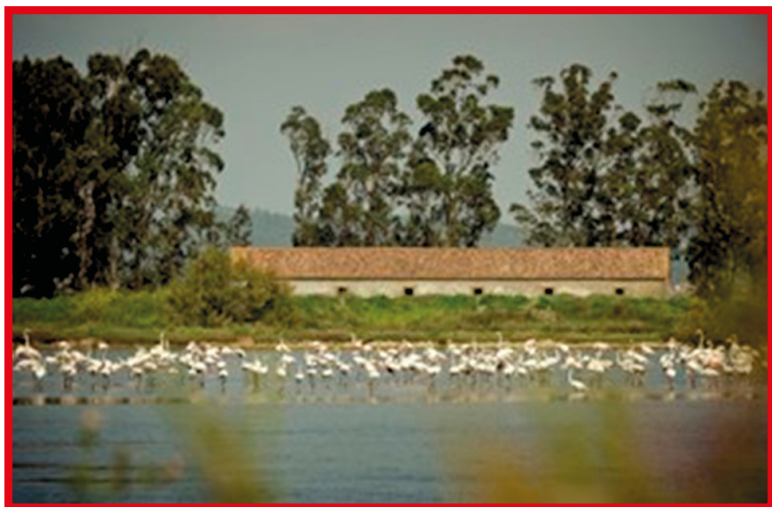

The word “alqueidão”, is an Arabic word that means narrow passage, the parish of Alqueidão is located on the south bank of the Municipality of Figueira da Foz, and has been a parish since March 30, 1928.

Geographically located on the left bank of the River Pranto, which is an effluent of the River Mondego, this parish is delimited by the parishes of Paião (to the south), Lavos (to the west), Vila Verde (to the north and across the rivers Mondego and Pranto) but the source of this river converges with the rice fields of Baixo Mondego and with the parishes of Abrunheira (Montemor-o-Velho) and Samuel (Soure).

Its landscape is characterized by the rice fields of the lower Mondego, as well as the vast expanses of pine forest and cultivated land.

The oldest rice industry in Portugal (founded in 1920), and also the most prestigious, Ernesto Morgado SA is located in this parish.

On the right bank of the mouth of the River Pranto, at the western end of Quinta do Canal, there remains a monumental mill with twelve millstones, built in 1778, a tidal mill of unique dimensions in the Iberian Peninsula, the only one to have operated with twelve millstones.

PROGRAM “EUROPE FOR CITIZENS”

The Europe for Citizens Program is an important instrument to make the Union's 500 million inhabitants play a more active role in the Union's development. By funding projects and activities in which citizens can participate, the program promotes common European history and values and fosters a sense of involvement in the way the Union evolves.

Within the general objective of bringing the Union closer to its citizens, the general objectives of the Program are: to help citizens understand the Union, its history and its diversity; promoting European citizenship and improving the conditions for civic and democratic participation at Union level.

The specific objectives should be pursued at transnational level or within a European dimension: Raising awareness in terms of the Union's memory, history and common values and the Union's purpose, namely to promote peace, the Union's values and the well-being of its peoples, stimulating debate, reflection and network development; Encourage citizens' democratic and civic participation at Union level by developing their understanding of the Union policy-making process and promoting opportunities for social and intercultural engagement as well as volunteering at Union level.

CITIES NETWORKS

The creation of networks between municipalities around issues of common interest is an important means to facilitate the exchange of good practices and to develop a thematic and lasting cooperation between them. They serve as a basis for future initiatives and actions among the participating cities, on the topics discussed or on possible new topics of interest. The European Commission is committed to promoting intercultural dialogue throughout the various programs and initiatives.

The Europe for Citizens Program can help us achieve this goal by bringing together European citizens of different nationalities and languages and giving them the opportunity to participate in common activities, knowing better the wealth of the cultural and linguistic environment in Europe, promoting the mutual understanding and tolerance, solidarity, social commitment and volunteering, that will contribute to the development of a respectful European identity, dynamic and multifaceted.

Santiago de Compostela Cathedral

A World Heritage Site since 1985, Santiago de Compostela has been attracting visitors and pilgrims from all over the world for centuries. It's the most cosmopolitan city in Galicia, but you take this for granted, so from the first moment you feel like you're part of it.

Here's everything. In the historic center, the Cathedral and the Pórtico da Glória. Emblematic squares such as Obradoiro, Quintana and d'O Toural. Dozens of churches, convents and palaces. Romanesque, Gothic and Baroque. There are also shops, bars, restaurants and a beautiful Horticultural Market overflowing with fresh products.

The Santiago de Compostela Archcathedral Basilica (Spanish and Galician: Catedral Basílica de Santiago de Compostela) is part of the Metropolitan Archdiocese of Santiago de Compostela and is an integral component of the Santiago de Compostela World Heritage Site in Galicia, Spain. The cathedral is the reputed burial place of Saint James the Great, one of the apostles of Jesus Christ. It is also among the remaining churches in the world built over the tomb of an apostle, the other ones being St Peter's Basilica in Vatican City.

The archcathedral basilica has historically been a place of pilgrimage on the Way of St James since the Early Middle Ages and marks the traditional end of the pilgrimage route. The building is a Romanesque structure, with later Gothic and Baroque additions.
